NINETEENTH
INTERNATIONAL CONGRESS OF AMERICANISTS
WASHINGTON, D. C.

October 5-10, 1914

United States National Museum,
Smithsonian Institution,
May 2, 1914.

SIR:

The Organizing Committee of the Nineteenth International Congress of Americanists, in sending you these more definite announcements of the approaching Session, wishes again to extend to you (provided its previous call has not already been accepted) a cordial invitation to affiliate as a member; to favor the Congress, if possible, with a communication dealing with research in some branch of American Anthropology (including Physical Anthropology, Archaeology, Ethnology, Philology, Mythology, Folklore, etc.), or Geography, Cartography, or History, bearing relation to the American people; and to participate personally, if possible, in the meeting, which promises to be of considerable importance.

If you are already a member of the Congress, we respectfully ask that you convey information of the meeting to those of your friends who may be interested in the subjects to be treated, as well as to any institutions, scientific organizations, and libraries in which you may be interested and which may possibly become members. In this connection it may be well to bear in mind that the Proceedings of the Congress, which will probably be published in two volumes, will be printed for Members only, no copies being reserved for sale.

As hitherto announced, the meetings will be held in the United States National Museum, which will also be the headquarters of the Congress. Sectional subdivisions of the Session, with the rooms assigned to their use, will be announced in the final programs early in September.

Ample facilities will be afforded for the display of special exhibits and for the illustration of papers with stereopticon views; also for the study of the great National Museum collections, before, during, and after the Congress.

At the conclusion of the Session in Washington a highly instructive excursion will be conducted for the purpose of enabling participants to visit the museums of special interest to Americanists, as well as the mound, ancient Pueblo, and Cliff-dwelling regions, and some of the living Indians.

The object of the Organizing Committee of this Session is to make the meeting, with the subsequent excursion, of the greatest possible scientific interest and instructiveness to the participants; and the Committee respectfully requests all who are engaged in or affiliated with the many important lines of research represented by the Congress of Americanists to aid in this endeavor.

Yours respectfully,

WILLIAM H. HOLMES,
Chairman of the Organizing Committee.

ALEŠ HRDLÍČKA,
Secretary.

CHARLES D. WALCOTT,
Chairman of the Executive Board, Organizing Committee.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

The Washington Session of the Nineteenth International Congress of Americanists will be the Executive (Business) Session of the Congress. This provision was made at the closing meeting of the Eighteenth Congress in London, June 1, 1912, and has since received the unanimous sanction of the Permanent Council. The articles relating to this subject, recorded in the Proceedings of the London Congress (VOL. I, p. lix), are as follows:

"An invitation to hold the meeting of the Nineteenth Congress at Washington was moved by Dr. A. Hrdlička in the name of the Smithsonian Institution, and seconded by Professor H. Cordier.

"Letters of invitation from the Smithsonian Institution, the George Washington University, the Catholic University of America, the Archæological Institute of America, the Anthropological Society of Washington, and the Georgetown University were read, and a list of Members of the proposed Organizing Committee was presented.

"Invitation accepted by acclamation. Dr. W. H. Holmes, Dr. A. Hrdlička, and Mr. F. W. Hodge were named as Organizers.

"An amendment by Mr. A. Posnansky, as bearer of an invitation from the Government of Bolivia to hold the Nineteenth Congress in La Paz, proposed the acceptance of this as an addition to the Session in Washington.

"Accepted unanimously.*"

* IMPORTANT NOTICE.—Since the above went to print, the Secretary has been officially notified by Sr. Y. Calderon, the Minister of Bolivia to the United States, that owing to various unforeseen circumstances the La Paz session must be postponed until a more propitious time. The Washington session will therefore be the only session of the Nineteenth Congress.

SUBJECTS FOR DISCUSSION: Pursuant to the statutes of the International Congress of Americanists, adopted at the Paris meeting in 1900, and in accordance with precedents established at former Sessions, the Organizing Committee announces that the Washington Session will be devoted to the following branches of science:

- I. American Anthropology (of all peoples of the continent).
- II. American Archeology.
- III. American Ethnology, including Folklore, Linguistics, and comparative Psychology (of all ethnic groups).
- IV. American History and Geography (so far as they relate to the preceding).

SPECIAL EXHIBITS: Members who may wish to exhibit publications, maps, manuscripts, or specimens relating to their researches, can do so subject to the following regulations: *

- a. All exhibits should be in the United States National Museum at least four weeks before the opening of the Congress to insure proper installation. Descriptive labels, plainly written, should accompany all exhibits. The exhibits will be housed and properly cared for in the United States National Museum without expense to the exhibitor.
- b. Neither the Museum nor the representatives of the Congress will be responsible for damage to or loss of exhibits.
- c. All exhibits should be addressed to Dr. Walter Hough, United States National Museum, Washington, D. C., and marked "For the International Congress of Americanists," together with the name of the sender. The cost of transportation to and from the Museum must be defrayed by the exhibitor.

* A special effort will be made by the Organizing Committee to secure a representative exhibit of American publications relating to the above-mentioned subjects issued by American institutions and the book trade.

EXCURSIONS

EXCURSION TO PINEY BRANCH QUARRIES

On Thursday afternoon, October 8th, an excursion will be conducted to the aboriginal quarries and workshops of Piney Branch of Rock Creek, where, within the suburbs of the city and only three miles from the present Executive Mansion, the ancient tribes obtained the material for vast numbers of stone implements. Here the refuse of the shaping work, consisting of fragments, chips, and partially shaped and broken implements, hammer-stones and anvils, covers an extensive area along the wooded bluffs, in places to the depth of 10 feet. The material utilized was in the form of quartzite and quartz bowlders, which had been deposited in heavy layers along the Tertiary ocean beach at these points. The ancient excavations are now filled up by loose materials cascaded from the low bluffs above and are exposed to view only by trenching, but ample exposures will be made for the benefit of the visiting party, and Professor W. H. Holmes, who has thoroughly explored the quarries in past years (see Fifteenth Annual Report of the Bureau of American Ethnology), will be present to explain the various interesting features of the site.

THE POST-SESSION EXCURSION

For the benefit of the foreign delegates to the Nineteenth International Congress of Americanists, and in accordance with the expressed wishes of a number of prominent foreign as well as American members, the Organizing Committee, in coöperation with a number of important institutions, have arranged for an excursion to extend over a period of a little more than two weeks following the close of the Session. It is planned that this excursion shall prove highly instructive as well as enjoyable. It will include visits to the museums whose collections are of particular interest to Americanists, to the classical mound regions of Ohio, Illinois, and Missouri, and finally to historic Santa Fe, New Mexico, and the adjacent pueblo ruins and cliff-dwellings, as well as the living Indians, of that region.

A partial program of the trip is given below. As the number of participants must necessarily be somewhat limited, delegates as well as local members are urged to send their applications to the Secretary at their earliest convenience.

The railway fare from Washington to Santa Fe by way of the eastern cities will approximate $65, but in the case of foreign delegates the Committee hopes to be of material assistance in defraying a part of this expense.

At Santa Fe, after exhausting the program, the party will disband, and those who wish will have the opportunity of devoting further time to the study of the archeological riches of the Southwest and the numerous native tribes of that general region. Visits may also conveniently be made to the Grand Canyon of the Colorado, to the great Sequoia forests and other natural wonders of California, and to the two expositions at San Francisco and San Diego, which by that time will be far advanced toward completion. Finally, those who return to the East will find unequaled opportunities to study at leisure the collections of the great museums.

PROGRAM OF THE EXCURSION

ITINERARY

Saturday, October 10th, 4 p. m., leave Washington for Philadelphia; Sunday, October 11th, the University Museum and the Academy of Natural Sciences of Philadelphia; evening, departure for New York; Monday, 12th, the museums of New York and Brooklyn; night, departure for Boston; Tuesday, 13th, Cambridge, Massachusetts, Peabody Museum of Harvard University; 4.30 p. m., train for Columbus, Ohio; Wednesday and Thursday, 14th-15th, Columbus Museum and aboriginal mounds in Ohio; night of 15th, departure for Chicago; Friday, 16th, Field Museum of Natural History, Chicago; evening, departure for Davenport, Iowa; Saturday, 17th, Museum of the Academy of Sciences at Davenport, and the Albany mounds; departure from Davenport night of the 17th for St. Louis; Sunday and Monday at St. Louis, with a visit to the great Cahokia mounds; Monday evening, departure for Santa Fe; arrive Santa Fe Thursday, October 22, in the morning.

BRIEF DETAILS

PHILADELPHIA.—Chairman of the Local Committee, Dr. G. B. Gordon, Director of the University Museum. Saturday, the 10th, 7.00 p. m.: The party will be met at the station on arrival and conducted to the Bellevue-Stratford Hotel.* Dinner at 8 p. m., at the hotel, given by the Local Committee; Sunday, the 11th, 9 a. m., visit to the Academy of Natural Sciences; 11 a. m., visit to the University Museum; 1 p. m., automobile ride to the Country Club for luncheon; 3.30 p. m., automobile ride through Fairmount Park; 6 p. m., return to hotel to prepare for departure for New York.

NEW YORK AND BROOKLYN.—Chairman of Honorary Committee, Professor Henry Fairfield Osborn, President of the

* Hotel charges, sleeping accommodations on the railways, and such meals as it will not be possible to arrange for, will be at the expense of the Excursionists.

American Museum of Natural History; chairman of Local Committee, Dr. F. Boas, Professor of Anthropology, Columbia University. The delegates will be met at the station, Sunday evening, and be escorted to the Park Avenue Hotel. They will leave the hotel at 9.30, Monday morning, by the subway for Brooklyn, where they will be met with automobiles and conducted to the Museum of Arts and Sciences. They will leave Brooklyn at 11.30 for the American Museum, where they will be given lunch at 12.30. They will leave the latter Museum at 3 p. m., passing Columbia University on the way to the Hispanic Society, where a reception will be held from 4 to 5.30. They will then return by subway to the Heye Museum, where they will remain from 6 until 7. Evening program and exact hour of departure to be fixed later.

CAMBRIDGE, MASSACHUSETTS.—Chairman of Local Committee, Professor F. W. Putnam, Honorary Director in Charge, Peabody Museum of American Archaeology and Ethnology, Harvard University. On the arrival of the party on Tuesday morning, October 13th, it will be met at the station in Boston and taken to the Harvard Club for breakfast. The party will then be taken in automobiles to Cambridge and after a ride through the University grounds will go to the Peabody Museum, where the morning will be passed in examination of the collections. Should any members wish to visit the other museums of the University they can readily do so. At 1.30 o'clock the party will be entertained at luncheon, after which automobiles will take the members to Boston to get the 4.30 train for Columbus. Owing to the short stay in Cambridge there will be no formal meeting, simply a brief address of welcome at the Museum by the Honorary Director in charge, and a word of welcome at the luncheon by the President of the University.

COLUMBUS, OHIO.—Chairman of the Local Committee, Mr. William C. Mills, Curator and Librarian of the Archaeological Museum, The Ohio State University. The delegates will be met at the train at 3 p. m. and escorted to the Museum. After an inspection of the Museum a dinner will be given at The Ohio Union. After the dinner the delegates will return to the Museum for a short session in the auditorium. The following day the delegates will visit mounds that have been selected for the purpose of examination. One of these will be shown in the process of exploration. The plan is to show the characteristics of a typical Ohio mound. The delegates will then return to Columbus in time for the train to Chicago.

CHICAGO.—Chairman of the Local Committee, Dr. George A. Dorsey, Curator of the Department of Anthropology, Field Museum of Natural History. Details (subject to revision): The party will be met at the station, taken to breakfast, and then conveyed in automobiles to the Field Museum of Natural History, where the rest of the forenoon will be spent in examining the collections. Then will follow a luncheon, perhaps at the Southshore Country Club, and later in the afternoon the delegates will be taken in automobiles around the city, returning to the station in time for the train to Madison.

DAVENPORT, IOWA.—Chairman of the Local Committee, the Honorable C. A. Ficke. Details (subject to revision): Friday, October 16: The party will be met at the Station and conducted to the hotel (Hotel Davenport, Fourth and Main streets, one block from station). Saturday, October 17: In the forenoon the delegates will visit the Museum of the Davenport Academy of Sciences and opportunity will be given for an examination of the archeological collections, chiefly from the upper Mississippi Valley. At the Museum there will be an address of welcome and probably a brief session devoted to the exploration, archeology, and native tribes of the upper Mississippi Valley. In the afternoon the delegates will be taken in automobiles to visit the important group of mounds at Albany, Illinois, from which many interesting specimens in the Davenport Museum have come. These mounds are picturesquely situated on the bluffs of the Mississippi River, about 25 miles from Davenport, and the trip thither along the river valley at that time of the year promises to be delightful. In the evening a dinner will be given the visitors by the Academy of Sciences.

ST. LOUIS.—The program in St. Louis will be carried out under the auspices of the Archaeological Institute of America, with Professor F. W. Shipley, the President of the Institute, as Chairman of the local Committee. Details of the program were not fully elaborated when this announcement went to print, but the stay will extend over two days, Sunday and Monday, and visits will be made to the great Cahokia mounds, the chief one of which is the largest earthwork on the continent.

SANTA FE, NEW MEXICO.—Chairman of the Local Committee, Dr. Edgar L. Hewett, Director of the School of American Archaeology. The party will be met at the station and conducted to hotels. The details of entertainment have not yet been completed, but present arrangements include a brief session at the Museum; two excursions, each of two days duration, with camping facilities and sustenance provided, to the most important archeological remains in the vicinity; and finally a trip in automobiles to the Indian pueblos of Taos and other native villages along the Rio Grande. Some of the more important ruins will be shown in process of exploration; and at Taos or some of the other pueblos the party will have the opportunity of witnessing highly interesting ceremonies of the Indians.

REGULATIONS CONCERNING COMMUNICATIONS TO BE PRESENTED, AND THEIR PUBLICATION.

1. The Organizing Committee has requested a number of prominent Americanists to serve as a Committee on Communications and Publication. This Committee will pass on the admissibility of all papers and addresses offered to the Congress, and on their subsequent publication.

2. In accordance with the usages and regulations of preceding Congresses, each member is entitled to present not more than two communications.

3. Titles of papers cannot be included in the final programs until synopses of the same have been furnished to the Secretary. These synopses should be submitted not later than September 1st, in order that they may be printed in time for distribution to the delegates before the meeting.

4. The time allotted for the reading of papers is limited, as usual, to fifteen minutes; but exceptions may be made by the Organizing Committee or, during the Session, by the Council, in the case of papers dealing with subjects of exceptional importance. For the discussion of papers, five minutes will be allowed to each speaker, but the total period of discussion on one subject may be curtailed, if deemed desirable, by the Presiding Officer.

5. Every facility, except kinematographic apparatus, will be provided without charge for the illustration of papers.

6. Communications may be verbal or written. It is essential that each paper be presented personally by the author. The printing of titles of communications in the program and the final publication of papers, in cases where the authors are not present, must be passed on by the Committee on Communications and Publication, or, during the Session, by the Council.

7. Personal and political matters are not admissible and should be carefully avoided.

RULES CONCERNING PUBLICATION

a. All papers presented at the Session and approved by the Committee on Communications and Publication will be printed, with a limited number of necessary illustrations, in the Proceedings of the Congress.

b. Manuscripts submitted for publication must be in the hands of the Committee not later than November 1, 1914. Communications not received by that date cannot be published in the Proceedings, except in the form of abstracts furnished before the opening of the Congress.

c. Manuscripts must be legible, and it is urged that they be submitted in typewritten and final form.

d. Owing to the advantage of the early publication of the Proceedings, only one proof of articles will be submitted to authors for correction of typographical errors. Other corrections or changes in the text will not be considered unless the author is willing to bear the cost of making them. The usual charge for making such corrections is 50 cents per hour.

e. If the pecuniary means of the Congress permit, authors will be provided gratuitously with a limited supply of separates of their respective articles; otherwise copies will be furnished at the cost of printing.

f. No papers previously published will be included in the Proceedings.

g. Only drawings or photographs sufficiently strong and clear to permit reproduction without redrawing or retouching can be accepted for publication, unless the author is willing to meet the cost of the additional work.

h. Each illustration must be provided with a number and a title, plainly written, and corresponding numbers must appear in their proper places in the text.

i. Owing to the large expense of printing the Proceedings, authors are urged to aid the Congress, as far as possible, by sharing the cost of reproducing their illustrations. Notification to this effect will be greatly appreciated by the Committee. The type size of the printed page of the Proceedings will be approximately the same as that of the Proceedings of the Eighteenth Congress held at London.

HOTELS

The following is a list of conveniently situated good hotels, in which reservation of rooms may be made. In addition, a limited number of persons can be accommodated at moderate rates in private dwellings. For assistance apply to the Secretary.

The Headquarters of the Congress will be in the United States National Museum.

The new building of the United States National Museum is situated in the Smithsonian grounds; the entrance is at Tenth and B Streets N. W., two squares south of Pennsylvania Avenue. The Smithsonian Institution and the old Museum buildings are in close proximity.
